Veto Message Sent in to Congress by President Roosevelt.

He Saw No Merit in Measure

Which Contemplated the Removal of the Charge of Desertion from the Naval Record of John Glass. Says Desertion is Gravest of Crimes.

Washington, March 12.—President Roosevelt sent his first veto message to congress. It was directed to the senate, and the bill vetoed was the one removing the charge of desertion from the naval record of John Glass. The message follows:

"There can be no graver crime than the crime of desertion from the army or navy, especially during war; it is then high treason to the nation and is justly punishable by death. No man should be relieved from such a crime, especially when nearly 40 years have passed since it occurred, save by the clearest positive proof of his real innocence. In this case the statement made by the affiant before the committee does not in all points agree with his statement made to the secretary of the navy. He had served but little more than a month when he deserted, and the war lasted for over a year afterwards, yet he made no effort whatever to get back into the war. Under such circumstances it seems to me that to remove the charge of desertion from the navy and give him an honorable discharge would be to falsify the records and do an injustice to his gallant and worthy comrades who fought the war to a finish.

"The names of the veterans who fought in the civil war make the honor lists of the republic; and I am not willing to put upon it the name of a man unworthy of the high position."

After the message had been delivered Senator Gallinger, from the committee on naval affairs, read the report of the committee on which the senate acted. From the statement it appeared that Glass enlisted in January, 1864, when only 16 years old, and that, having witnessed an act which compromised the second officer of the ship, he was taken ashore in March of that year by that officer and told not to report again for duty. The committee say that this order, together with Glass' youth, was responsible for his desertion.

ALTGELD IS DEAD.

The Famous Governor of Illinois Died This Morning at Joliet.

Joliet, Ills., March 12.—Former Governor J. P. Altgeld died here this morning at 7:00 o'clock. John Peter Altgeld was born in Germany, December 30, 1847. His parents emigrated to this country, and settled on a farm in Richland county, Ohio. His early educational advantages were meager. In 1861 he enlisted in the Union army and served until the end of the war.

In 1872 he was admitted to the bar and located in Savannah, Mo. In 1875 he went to Chicago and entered on the practice of law. He soon built up a lecrative practice. In 1886 he became judge of the Superior Court of Cook county and in 1892 was nominated for governor by the Democrats and was elected.

Though wealthy at one time, Governor Altgeld is reported to have made the following statement recently:

"If I had not fought the trusts I might be worth millions today, but as it is, only one-fourth of the $700,000 I possessed when I began to fight them, remains."

BUTCHER WEYLER

Is Fairly Well on the Way to be the Dictator of Spain.

Madrid, March 12.—The announcement was made this morning that members of cabinet headed by Senor Sagasta, would place their resignations in the hands of the Queen Regent some time today. It is probable that Senor Marlero will be entrusted with the formation of the new cabinet. Gen. Weyler, at present minister of war, seems to be well on the road to become dictator of Spain. It is a recognized fact that he is indispensible to the formation of any cabinet and seems to gain strength with every crisis. The new cabinet will probably summon Cortes to meet March 17, to have King Alfonso take oath, after which the body will immediately adjourn.

KITCHENER

Will be Dispatched to Catch Dewet.

London, March 12.—The Daily Chronicle understands Lord Kitchener will be relieved of much administrative work in South Africa in order to enable him to take the field in person and head a large mounted force in an endeavor to capture Dewet. The Chronicle is also informed that when he is released General Methuen will not assume any further military command in South Africa. A casualty list shows that four officers were killed and 10 wounded, including General Methuen, dangerously. He is doing well.

Live Stock Market.

Chicago, March 12.—Cattle 15,000, 10 to 15 cents higher; hogs 25,000, 10 cents higher; sheep 15,000, 10 cents lower.

The Weather.

Washington, March 12.—Ohio, rain tonight; Thursday, colder, with fair in western and rain in eastern portion.

VAST PARK

Will be Constructed by German Emperor.

Berlin, March 12.—Emperor William, carrying out his purpose of converting the Grunewald into a vast pleasure ground for the use of the inhabitants of Berlin, has approved the plans for new roads, playgrounds, picnic grounds, glades and restaurant sites in the forest. One of the emperor's objects is to encourage outdoor athletics. The forest contains 11,550 acres. It is a royal hunting preserve, but the foresters are now killing off deer and wild boar there.

An Ohio Company.

Trenton, N. J., March 12.—The Cincinnati, Newport and Covington Light and Traction company, capital $10,000,000, to construct and operate street railways and to furnish electric lights, was incorporated here.

Touched a Live Wire.

Lafayette, Ind., March 12.—Earl Peters, a mail carrier, was instantly killed in attempting to remove a live electric light wire that had fallen across a telephone wire on his barn.

EXPLOSIONS

From Natural Gas Wrecked a Building

And Seriously Injured Six People in Peru, Indiana, This Morning.

Peru, Ind., March 12.—Two distinct explosions which shook the entire city, wrecked two brick buildings and injured six people, one probably fatally, occurred here early this morning. The injured are Frank Kiley, sr., cut and bruised, may die; Frank Kiley jr., James Kiley, Miss Bridget Kiley, Mrs. John Hays and baby, all cut, bruised or burned. It is supposed that an accumulation of natural gas caused the explosion.

DEATH ROLL

Far Greater in Philippines Than It Should Be.

Washington, March 12. — General Hughes continued his testimony before the senate Philippine committee. In reply to a question by Senator Patterson, he said the death rate among Spanish prisoners was far beyond what it should have been. Investigation proved that the prisoners were so debilitated by reason of their long stay in the heat and by their military service that they were unable to rally from any illness which attacked them. He said he had urged the return of United States troops to this country after two years' service.

LIGHT

Thrown on Collision Between

Russian Guard

And the Crew of the Vicksburg.

The Advices Show a Very Strong Case for American Soldiers.

An Incident Which Caused Russian Government to File a Protest Against the Course of American Consul.

Washington, March 12.—It may be that the collision which occurred between the Russian soldiers and the crew of the United States ship Vicksburg at the beginning of the year, while the gunboat was in a mud dock at Niu Chwang, will be the subject of further representations to the Russian government. The mail advices which are now coming to hand make a very strong case for the American sailors. It is shown that they were attacked without reason in their own clubroom by the Russian guard, and were handled cruelly. The representations made by Henry B. Miller, United States consul at Niu Chwang, to the Russian commander were extremely vigorous and caused a protest to be lodged by the Russian government, but a subsequent investigation is believed to have established the propriety of the consul's course.

TARIFF LAW

Affecting Philippines is Put Into Effect.

Washington, March 12. — General Spaulding, assistant secretary of the treasury, has taken the preliminary steps to put into effect the new Philippine tariff. The following telegram was sent to collectors of customs: "Philippine tariff act went into effect 8th inst. Require entry and assess Dingley rates on all goods except articles of growth and product of archipelago, on which collect 75 per cent of Dingley rates, less duty or tax collected on shipment. Hold duties as separate fund to be paid into Philippine treasury. Accept drawback entries; allow withdrawal for exportation of goods in bonded warehouses and from bonded manufacturing warehouses."

KRUGER TALKS.

Says There Will be More News from Delarey.

New York, March 12.—The Journal today publishes the following statement by Paul Kruger, in a special dispatch today: Utrecht, March 11—There will be more good news yet from Delarey. My confidence in the ultimate triumph of the Boer cause could not be greater than it is now, and indeed it never has been shaken.

BURGLARS

Blew the Vault and Stole the Money.

Titusville, Pa., March 12—The vault of the Farmers Bank in Townville, this county, was blown by burglars last night. Between seven and eight thousand were stolen. The doors of some private residences were wired shut, and eatables were stolen from others, taken to a vacant hotel, prepared and devoured. There is not the slightest clew to the identity of the burglars. The bank carried $4,000 burglary insurance.

DESERTED BY COX.

Hanna and Dick are Preparing a Soft Place to Fall On.

The Matter of Congressional Boundaries Under the Patterson Bill a Subject of Controversy.

Columbus, O., March 12.—Congressman Bob Nevin is ready to take oath on a stack of Bibles that Hanna and Dick are not opposed to changing the boundaries of the Third and Twelfth congressional districts. Senator Patterson, of Pike county, author of the bill leaving all the districts as they now are, is equally emphatic in the assertion that the boss and his man Friday are bitterly opposed to any change whatever. You pay your money and take your choice, leaving it to your judgment as to which of these astute gentlemen is telling the truth.

The most probable fact in connection with the real redistricting situation is that Hanna and Dick, having been deserted by George B. Cox in the matter, are preparing a safe place to fall on. They are as much opposed now as they have been at any time to any changes whatever in the congressional districts; but, seeing that they cannot hold down both the Foraker and Cox men, together with some of their own lieutenants who favor changing the Third and Twelfth districts for selfish reasons, they are ready to accept the inevitable. Any departure from the Patterson bill will be a defeat to Hanna, but the big boss has become accustomed to this sort of thing recently and is learning now to take it gracefully. Hanna and Dick have been shrewder in this matter than their opponents. They realize that to perpetrate any further injustice in congressional representation upon the people of Ohio will be an act too grossly indecent to escape public condemnation. The Republicans of this state now have a majority of about 10 per cent of its voters, but they have a majority of about 90 per cent of its congressmen. This would seem to be a state of affairs rank enough to suit the most hoggish disposition, and Hanna and Dick are wise in foreseeing the consequences of a redistricting process that would make it any worse. Their opponents, however, are not satisfied, if for no other reason than that they delight to humiliate Hanna; and so, in all probability, the Third and Twelfth districts will be changed.

It is now proposed to erect a separate district out of Franklin county alone and the Republicans are consoling themselves with the thought that this will make it "safe." A close examination of this theory, however, shows it to be decidedly treacherous. When the Democracy of this county is united it is by no means assuredly Republican. The city of Columbus has had a Democratic mayor four-fifths of the time in the past twenty-five years. The county offices during the same period have been as a rule held by Democrats. Colonel Kilbourne, Democratic candidate for governor, carried the county by a large plurality last fall and Judge De-Witt C. Badger did the same thing two years ago as a candidate for supreme court justice, notwithstanding the head of the Democratic ticket was defeated in the county. It is true that Democratic representatives in congress have of late years been elected to congress from this district solely by the aid of Democratic Fairfield county, but in every one of these elections, it has been notorious that the Democracy of Franklin county was not united. In former years this was not true of Franklin county, and in those years there was always an even chance of Democratic success in Franklin on the congressional ticket. It does not appear, therefore, that eliminating Fairfield from this district will necessarily make it Republican. The Democrats would infinitely prefer this change to one bringing Delaware or Madison county into the district. The new Twelfth may yet be heard from to the encouragement of Democrats throughout the state, notwithstanding the Republican delusion that it cannot be shaken by a Democratic earthquake.

Representative Duval, of Jefferson, will introduce a resolution abolishing the revision committee of the house. If that is defeated he will ask that the committee's power to correct bills be limited to general measures. Mr. Duvall tells a harrowing tale of the experience which led him to take this action. A local bill, which he introduced, was tossed about from the revision committee to the judiciary committee and back again for two weeks, while the author grew foot-weary trying to follow it. Finally it was located in the revision committee, and now he cannot get it from there because of alleged irregularities in the phaseology. "There is no need of having both the Supreme court and the revision committee, and as we can't abolish the Supreme court, I am in favor of relieving the committee of its duties," says Mr. Duval.

Members of the General assembly are receiving letters from granges all over the state urging them to work and vote to prevent any change in the present Ohio oleomargerine law, any change in the game law, any change in the present Rawling's law for the taxation of finished goods in hands of manufacturers, and to put Ohio on record as favoring a direct vote for United States senators. The grange is making an organized effort for these things.

The senate committee on agriculture has decided to report for indefinite postponement the Eckert bill making it a misdemeanor for farmers to sprinkle tobacco with Paris green for the purpose of killing the worms. This practically kills the bill. The passage of the bill was backed by the manufacturers because they say the poison clings to the leaf and finds its way into the system of the user.

ARGUMENTS

Being Made Today on the Canal Question.

Columbus, O., March 12.—The two houses of the general assembly met in joint session to hear arguments pro and con on the subject of the proposed abandonment of the canals of the state. Lieutenant Governor Nippert presided over the joint session. Ex-Representative Charles P. Griffin of Toledo, and ex-Senator Seiber of Akron, spoke in favor of their retention.

INCREASED

The Capital Stock of Steamship Company.

Berlin, March 12.—The directors of the Hamburg-American Steamship company have decided to increase the company's capital by 30,000,000 marks to pay for the steamers now under construction. Of these steamers 10 aggregate 7,730 tons. When these vessels are completed the ocean fleet of the Hamburg-American Steam Packet company will comprise 127 steamers, with a tonnage of 630,000 tons.

SWELLED

The Ranks of the Disaffected to Sixteen Thousand.

Mayor Collins Takes a Hand

And Sends a Telegram to the National Civic Federation, Asking Its Assistance in Settling the Trouble Between the Men and the Railroads.

Boston, March 12.—The second day of the great strike of organized labor against the demands of the railroad and steamship companies that merchandise delivered at freight depots by the R. S. Brine Transportation company be not discriminated against found large additions to the ranks of the strikers. Nearly 6,000 union men were ordered out, bringing the grand total of idle men up to about 16,000, with the prospect of still greater increase.

One of the most important developments of the day was the ordering out of the longshoremen at the docks of the Philadelphia and Metropolitan steamship companies, in consequence of which vessels of those lines were compelled to depart with only partial cargoes, while the wharves are partially filled with the freight which the men refused to handle. Other docks are in a similar condition and business there is practicaly tied up.

The members of the Teamsters' union, comprising 1,400 brick, sand, lime and cement teamsters, also went out, which virtually ties up the building trades by depriving them of material with which to work.

Deeming the situation sufficiently grave to warrant his taking such action, Mr. Collins sent a telegram to Hon. M. A. Hanna at Washington, asking that the National Civic Federation, of whose executive committee Mr. Hanna is chairman, should interest itself in the matter and endeavor to effect a settlement by arbitration.

OPPOSED TO MARCUS.

Senator Malloy Argues Against the Ship Subsidy Measure.

Some Lively Scenes Enacted in the House. Investigation of Sugar Trust Knocked Out.

Washington, March 12.—For several hours the senate had the ship subsidy bill under consideration. Mr. Mallory of Florida made an extended speech in opposition to the measure. He analyzed the bill carefully and held that there was no good reason for its enactment into law, saying he believed it would not accomplish the results hoped for it by its promoters. His opposition was based chiefly on the ground that it would extend the favor of the United States treasury to private individuals and corporations without a just return for the expenditure. A lively debate occurred over an effort on the part of Mr. Berry of Arkansas to ascertain when the committee on privileges and elections might be expected to report to the senate the resolution providing for the election of senators by direct vote of the people. Mr. Hoar (Mass.) indicated his vigorous opposition to such a resolution on the ground that it would subvert the fundamental principles upon which the senate was founded.

House Proceedings.

Washington, March 12.—The house entered on the consideration of the postoffice appropriation bill, but as usual during general debate on an appropriation bill, the members who spoke devoted themselves to everything except the bill before the house. Early in the day Mr. Thayer (Mass.) attempted to take advantage of the division among the Republicans on the subject of reciprocity by bringing forward a resolution to investigate reports that the sugar trust would be the chief beneficiary of Cuban reciprocity. He tried to overturn a decision of the speaker in order to secure action on his resolution, but the Republicans came up solidly against such a course and he was checkmated.

Mr. Brantley, a Georgia Democrat, made a speech in favor of Cuban reciprocity, and Mr. Meyer, a Louisiana Democrat, one against it. Mr. Hill (Conn.) made some remarks on his monetary bill. The feature of the day, however, was a speech by Mr. Burleson attacking Secretary Hay for declining to request the British authorities to furnish passports to go through the British lines to Rev. Hiram W. Thomas and wife, who desire to go to South Africa to distribute Boer relief funds collected in Illinois. Mr. Hitt (Ills.), chairman of the foreign affairs committee, made a spirited reply to Mr. Burleson, charging the Texas member with attempting to prejudice the case before the evidence was in. Mr. Hitt said the relief funds could be distributed through the Red Cross or the American consuls, and added that it was contrary to international law and usage to allow those in sympathy with the enemy to go through the lines in time of war.

WILLING

But He Doesn't Know What He Can Do.

The Strike Situation Puzzles Governor Crane,

And the Situation at Boston Grows More and More Serious—Factories Are Having to Close Down.

Boston, March 12.—This morning a general committee of strikers called upon Governor Crane, and the conference lasted half an hour. Governor Crane told the men he would be willing to do anything he could to settle the strike, but did not see just what he could do. Four shoe manufacturers at Lynn have announced that they were ready to close down their factories until the strike is over. About 3,000 cases of shoes are accumulating daily. Some of the Brockton shoe manufacturers have employed teams to take cases over the road to Boston.

Mark Hanna's Reply.

Boston, March 12.—Mayor Collins this morning received the following reply message asking Hon. M. A. Hanna's aid in putting an end to the strike:

Washington — "Telegram received. If you will point out the way, we will be glad to be of service. Should have indications from both sides that our good offices would be acceptable."

Feared an Explosion.

Chicago, March 12.—The 5-story brick warehouse of the Brunswick-Balke-Collander company, located at Wells and Superior streets, was practically destroyed by fire. The flames spread so rapidly that for a time the company's factory, which adjoins the warehouse, was threatened. A large quantity of ammonia and inflammable material stored in the building handicapped the firemen, as an explosion was expected at any moment. Several special calls for extra engines were sent in, and after a stubborn fight the flames were subdued, with a loss of $150,000.

TOUR

Of Inspection Made by Hunt

In Porto Rico.

Governor, and Head of Departments

Visit the Towns Along the Coast of the Newly Acquired Territory.

Junket Will Last Four Days and is an Important Event in the History of the Province.

San Juan, Porto Rico, March 12.—Governor Hunt, the heads of departments and the wives of these officials, Colonel Buchanan, the chief army officer of Porto Rico, and others totalling about 15 persons, are visiting coast towns on the steamer San Juan. The tour will last five days. The party was enthusiastically greeted at Ponce, where crowds lined the two miles of road from the port to the city, and the visitors were royally received. The governor made a speech from the balcony of the city hall and reviewed two companies of the Eleventh regiment and 3,000 school children. There was a banquet and a ball at the casino. This was the governor's first visit to Ponce.

Dry Spell Broken.

Oklahoma City, O. T., March 12.—Two inches of rain have fallen here since midnight, and specials report heavy rains at Stroud, El Reno, Kingfisher, Perry and Geary. This is the first good rain in the territory for six months, and it is believed it has saved a good percentage of the wheat crop. The Choctaw depot at Geary was struck by lightning, and it, with four cars of merchandise, was burned.

Printing Plant Burned.

Fremont, Neb., March 12.—Fire destroyed the entire building and plant of The Tribune. Practically nothing was saved, and the entire stock of paper, stationery and jobbing material is a total loss. The building was just completed and was built especially for The Tribune. The loss will be $75,000, amount of insurance not known.

Survivor of War of 1812.

Washington, March 12.—The president approved the bill granting an increased pension to Hiram Cronk of Ava, Oneida county, N. Y., who is the last surviving soldier pensioner of the war of 1812. He is now 104 years old.

Funston Feted.

Chicago, March 12.—General Frederick S. Funston was the guest of honor at an elaborate banquet in the club house of the Marquette club, members of the Lincoln club also sharing in the occasion.

Killed by Lightning.

Des Moines, March 12.—Charles Pierce was instantly killed by a bolt of lightning while at work on a farm near New Hartford.

Northern Pacific Strike.

St. Paul, March 12.—Officials of the Northern Pacific reported no change in the strike situation on the Rocky mountain division.

Wife-Murderer Hanged.

Ellisville, Miss., March 12. — Jake Gilmore, colored, was hanged, having been convicted of murdering his wife.

Marking the Towels.

A housekeeepr has hit upon the idea of embroidering on towels with a dark blue or red thread the outlines of various utensils, such as tumblers, a cup and saucer, a frying pan or saucepan, for the purpose of conveying by object lesson the separate use for which each towel is designed. "One of the things," says this housekeeper, "that I could not impress upon the various girls who served in my kitchen was which towel was to be used for certain dishes. They wiped my cut glass with a heavy crash towel and the frying pan with a towel designed for glass. Since I have put emblems on each of the towels I have had no further trouble."

Krause's Cold Cure

For colds in the head, chest, throat or any portion of the body, breaks up a cold in 24 hours without interruption to work. Will prevent colds if taken when first symptoms appear. Sold by Wm. M. Melville old post office corner.

Russian Women.

Russian women, writes George Kennan, are among the finest in the world. In the upper classes they are the most markedly individual, the most brilliant, the most accomplished. They are all highly educated, many of them speaking a number of languages fluently and being at the same time accomplished musicians. But in upper or lower classes the women of Russia are the most self sacrificing in the world. The girls have the most exalted ambitions and will make marvelous sacrifices in order to accomplish them. These ambitions are ideals. Their desire does not seem to be for personal advancement nor to make a career for themselves, but to work for the good of the people about them.

Scrofula

This root of many evils—

Glandular tumors, abscesses, pimples and other cutaneous eruptions, sore ears, inflamed eyelids, rickets, dyspepsia, catarrh, readiness to catch cold and inability to get rid of it easily, paleness, nervousness and other ailments including the consumptive tendency—

Can be completely and permanently removed, no matter how young or old the sufferer.

Hood's Sarsaparilla was given the daughter of Silas Vernooy, Wawarsing, N. Y., who had broken out with scrofula sores all over her face and head. The first bottle helped her and when she had taken six the sores were all healed and her face was smooth. He writes that she has never shown any sign of the scrofula returning.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

NEW OPERA

Called After Famous Sultan of Sulu

Meets With an Enthusiastic Reception

In Chicago, Where it is Given Before One of the Largest Audiences Ever Assembled in That City.

Chicago, March 12—"The Sultan of Sulu," a new Philippine opera, by George Ade, was produced at the Studebaker theater, Chicago, by the Castle Square opera company, under the direction of Henry W. Savage. A rollicking performance by an admirable company roused the audience to almost continuous applause. The scenery, which accurately represents the bay of Manilla and the coast of the island of Sulu, formed a charming background for the display of the picturesque and magnificent costumes worn by the gorgeous sultan, his numerous wives and his American guests. All concerned in the production, principals, chorus and managers, were obliged to respond to many curtain calls. The audience was the largest ever assembled at the first Chicago production of a Chicago opera.

Short In His Accounts.

St. Louis, March 12. — William H. Hofmeister, late supreme recorder of the Legion of Honor, who committed suicide Jan. 21 within 12 hours after having been defeated for re election, was short in his accounts with the lodge to the amount of $20,00, as was announced in a signed statement by the officers of the order, who have just finished an examination of the books. The defalcations are shown as extending over 10 years.

"Her Ladyship" Arrested.

London, March 12.—Lady Christiana Sykes, whose domestic difficulties have caused notoriety, was arrested on the Strand on the charge of being drunk and incapable of taking care of herself. She was arraigned at the Bow stret police court, but her ladyship laughingly pleaded illness, and the magistrate released her with a warning not to come before him again.

Erie Will Have to Pay.

Youngstown, O., March 12—The case of James Moore, who secured a judgment for $18,000 against the Erie railroad for the loss of both legs while a brakeman in the employ of the company, has been affirmed by the United States supreme court at Washington. Moore resides at East Orwell, O. The judgment with interest amounts to $21,500.

Cuban Railroad.

New York, March 12.—Sir William Van Horne, president of the Cuban Railroad company, arrived here from Havana. He said his railroad line would be completed from Havana to Santiago in about 90 days. The road, he said, will be modern in every respect, and will be well equipped with rolling stock.

Electric Line Opened.

Lima, March 12.—The Western Ohio Electric railway was opened up for traffic between this city and St. Marys, and the event was celebrated with a business men's excursion, accompanied by a band. There were big demonstrations at Cridersville, Wapakoneta and other places.

No Americans Need Apply.

Toronto, March 12.—The city council has passed a resolution declaring that hereafter no more tenders for civic work will be accepted from American contractors. The reason given for the action is that Canadians are barred in American cities.

Threw Himself Under a Train.

Minneapolis, March 12. — Edward Peterson, 50, proprietor of a boarding house, threw himself under a Northern Pacific train near his home and was instantly killed. Peterson had been ill of late and suffering from melancholia.

AN INVITATION TO EVERYBODY.

You are invited to a book shower at the Lima Public Library in the Black block, on Thursday afternoon and evening, March 20, 1902.

Each person who comes is asked to bring a book, or books, for the library.

Very respectfully,
LIMA LIBRARY ASSOCIATION.

We are especially in need of good fiction and children's books.

If you have any books your children have outgrown, bring them. Many little people come to the library who have never had any books of their own to outgrow. If you have a good novel that you are through with and you are willing to give it away, bring it. Many big people who come for books have had no oppertunity to read that story.

Perhaps you have two copies of some books. Let the library have one. If you have more books to give than you can carry, just let us know and we will send for them. If you cannot come yourself, send your book by some one else. Come and see how badly your book is needed.

GREAT YANKEE SHOW

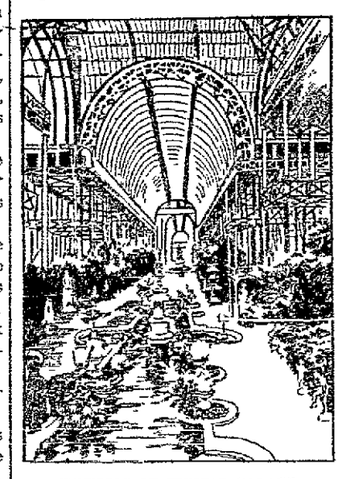

AMERICAN GOODS TO FILL CRYSTAL PALACE DURING CORONATION.

Expected That Our Foreign Trade Will Thereby Receive an Impetus. The Palace Management Now Making Elaborate Preparations.

[Special Correspondence.]

London, Feb. 28.—One of the most attractive features of the coronation of King Edward VII., at least in the eyes of Americans, but one about which little has been said, will be the big American exhibition at the Crystal palace, the favorite playground of Londoners. This exhibition will be interesting for more than one reason.

Representative business men of this city are a unit in declaring that the manufacturers of the United States never before have had such an opportunity for advertising their products to the rest of the world as the Crystal palace show will offer to them. That American producers realize this is evinced by the way applications for space in the palace are pouring in.

The idea of the American exhibition was fathered by the managers of the palace, who were quick to note the remarkable boom which almost every type of American product has enjoyed in England during the past year and who consequently saw the means of making a profitable investment by catering to the popular desire to see American goods at their best. The idea, once formulated, was submitted to the American society in London, which took it under serious consideration.

The question with the society was not one of the financial success of the exhibition, but one of its industrial value. It was recognized that unless the exhibits were made representative of the highest and best in American trade people would come away from the palace with an impression that the American boom was unwarranted, and our foreign trade would consequently suffer.

This consideration induced the American society to reply to the proprietors of the Crystal palace that if they would consent to the appointment of an advisory board composed of prominent Americans and prominent Englishmen empowered to see that the exhibition was planned and carried out on such lines as to be a credit to the United States and her industrial forces the American society would exert all the power at its command to make the fair a success. To this the palace managers agreed at once, and the advisory committee which was appointed is remarkable for the standing of both its American and English members.

A letter has been addressed to the governors of all the states in the Union asking them for aid in making the exhibition a great success, and representations have also been made to the state department at Washington. It is expected that the exhibition will be opened by Mr. Choate, and it can be said confidently that both King Edward and Queen Alexandra will visit it soon after it has been opened and that representatives of every self governing and crown colony will be present.

The date set for the opening of the exhibition is May 15, and the managers are already hard at work laying out the booths wherein the exhibits will be installed.

The scene of the exhibition has a history that is interesting in itself. The Crystal palace is the famous building of glass that housed the first international exhibition, held in London in 1851. This exhibition was given in Hyde park, but the great glass house was regarded as such a marvel that instead of being destroyed after the exhibition was at an end it was taken down and rebuilt on Sydenham hill, half an hour out from the heart of London.

Throughout the year different kinds of trade and other exhibitions are held in the place, and there is no end of permanent entertainments, including a circus, an immense concert hall, a roller skating rink, a theater, a "false lake," sideshows and the like. The building alone covers sixteen acres and the surrounding grounds 200. The grounds include two fair sized lakes, a bicycle track, a football field, a cricket ground and a fine sweep of gardens.

Plans are being made by the amusement company which leases the "false lake," where the Spanish-American war was refought in miniature last summer, to lay out the most ambitious spectacle they ever undertook. In fact, building operations are already under way. HENRY A. BRUCE.

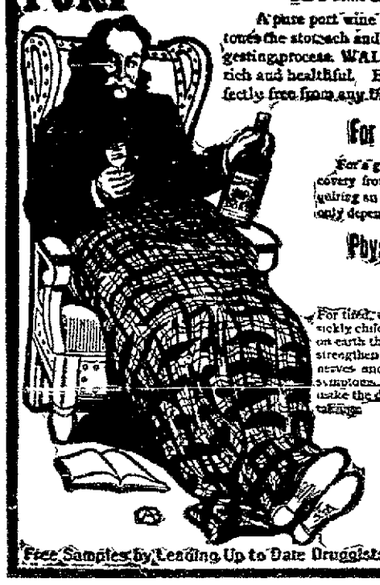

A Conspicuous Exception.

"Don't you think heaven is a land of rest?" inquired the doctor.

"Oh, I suppose it is," replied the professor, "for everybody except the recording angel."—Chicago Tribune.

To Remind Him

That Another Milestone Had Been Reached.

Charming Event at the Home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Wood.

A Merry Masquerade at the Home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leist, of West Vine Street.

A. C. Wood, of south Main street, was completely and most agreeably surprised last night by a number of friends calling upon the invitation of Mrs. Wood, to pleasantly remind him of his birthday anniversary. The guests were soon enjoying the cordiality of the Wood home. Progressive pedro was enjoyed the early part of the evening. The successful contestants were Miss Tyler, who secured the ladies prize and Albert Blosser, who was awarded the gentleman's. During the evening delicious refreshments were served. The observance of the event was mutually enjoyed.

The elegant new group of stations of the cross for St. Johns church arrived this morning and are being placed in their proper positions. They represent scenes in Christ's journey to the cross. The donors of these beautiful religious articles are: St. Johns Altar society, Catholic Ladies of Ohio, J. J. Malloy and wife, P. J. Holleran and wife, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Seifried, J. M. NEW STORE

Opened Today in the Black Block.

Complimentary Words from Neighboring Newspaper Concerning the New Firm.

In connection with the advent of Messrs. R. T. Gregg & Co. into the mercantile field in this city the following kind words from an exchange in reference to the gentlemen composing the firm will be pertinent. It deals with their having sold their business to another firm and says:

"With the retirement from local commercial circles of C. F. Hansberger and R. T. Gregg, two of the most energetic and competent business men that ever transacted business in this city will add their efforts in the past to her history. Messrs. Hansberger and Gregg began business in this city thirteen years ago. From the day they began reaching out for trade, they appealed to the residents of this vicinity in a straightforward business way. They dealt fairly with all whose patronage they sought, and no firm ever did business in Tiffin and retired with a greater measure of the esteem of the community than that which has fallen to the lot of C. F. Hansberger & Co.

As public spirited citizens, C. F. Hansberger and R. T. Gregg forcibly demonstrated that they had the welfare of the community in which they transacted business at heart at all times. Among the monuments to Mr. Hansberger's enterprise are four handsome dwelling houses he erected and two of these are among the handsomest residence structures within the city limits. No enterprise which had for its purpose the welfare of the people whose patronage they sought, was ever turned down by Messrs. Hansberger and Gregg. They were always ready with cash and energy to further any scheme the consummation of which had the interests of the citizens for its purpose, and their departure will be greatly regretted should they conclude to leave this city.

The line of business Messrs. Hansberger and Gregg intend embarking upon, after relinquishing their interests in the local store, is not definitely known at this time, although it is understood they will, after taking a richly deserved six months' rest, engage in the jobbing trade. No matter what business they follow, the best wishes for success will be extended to them by the citizens of this city and vicinity."

INTENSE SUFFERING

From Dyspepsia and Stomach Trouble

Instantly Relieved and Permanently Cured by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

A New Discovery, but Not a Patent Medicine.

Dr. Redwell relates an interesting account of what he considers a remarkable case of acute stomach trouble and chronic dyspepsia by the use of the new discovery, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

He says: "The patient was a man who had suffered, to my knowledge, for years with dyspepsia. Everything he ate seemed to sour and create gases in the stomach. He had pains like rheumatism in the back, shoulder blades and limbs, fullness and distress after eating, poor appetite and loss of flesh; the heart became affected, causing palpitation and sleeplessness at night.

"I gave him powerful nerve tonics and blood remedies, but to no purpose. As an experiment I finally bought a 50 cent package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at a drug store and gave them to him. Almost immediate relief was given, and after he had used four boxes, he was to all appearances fully cured.

"There was no more acidity or sour, watery risings, no bloating after meals the appetite was vigorous and he has gained between 10 and 12 pounds in weight of solid, healthy flesh.

"Although Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are advertised and sold in drug stores, yet I consider them a most valuable addition to any physician's line of remedies, as they are perfectly harmless and can be given to children or invalids or in any condition of the stomach with perfect safety, being harmless and containing nothing but fruit and vegetable essences, pure pepsin and Golden Seal.

"Without any question they are the safest, most effective cure for indigestion, biliousness, constipation and all derangements of the stomach, however slight or severe."

THE STAGE.

MILDRED HOLLAND AS "ARIA."

The management of the Faurot opera house is sparing neither time nor expense to secure for its patrons the very best attractions in the country. In the engagement of Miss Mildred Holland and her excellent company in "The Power Behind the Throne," a genuine dramatic treat is promised theater-goers. It is not the policy of the present management to endorse any actor or actress unless it knows whereof it speaks; but from the reports of the almost triumphal tour of Miss Holland last year, and the evidence furnished by managers throughout the country, the management of the Faurot opera house, is justified in recommending Miss Holland to its threatre-goers. The indications are that every seat in the house will be occupied, as the advance sale is reported to be very large for the engagement of Miss Holland on Thursday night, March 13. The production is sumptuously staged and costumed.

The principal members of the supporting company are: Lillian Norris, Rita O'Neal, Camile Porter, Tillie Thompson, Rose Gadsby, Wright H. Lorimer, Wm. H. Pendergast, William Frederic, Carter Weaver, Kenneth Davenport and Edward R. Lewis.

DEMOCRATS

From Shawnee Township Held Primary

And Placed in Nomination a Good Township Ticket. Delegates Elected.

Pursuant to the call of the ad. committeeman, the Democrats of Shawnee township met in convention at the township house on last Saturday afternoon, and nominated a township ticket, and elected delegates for the various conventions. The caucus was organized by the selection of Beach Graham as chairman, C. W. Burkhardt as secretary, and J. L. Fantz as teller. The meeting was pervaded throughout its deliberations with the spirit of utmost good feeling and harmony, which fact augurs well for the future success of the old and tried Jeffersonian and Jacksonian principles in the ever-progressive and alert Shawnee precinct.

The men who will be elected to township office on next April are: Trustee, John Brown; clerk, J. A. Umbaugh; assessor, Wm. McBeth; road supervisors, of district No. 2, A. P. Lehman; district No. 3, Joseph Bowsher; district No. 4, Hon. William Russler, and district No. 1, (through the courtesy and generosity of the Democracy of Shawnee township this office was left to the fate of their Republican brethern). C. A. Busler was selected central committeeman.

Delegates to the county convention were named as follows: Joseph Myers, Beach Graham, C. B. Lehman, Frank Keller, C. W. Burkhardt, Levi Crites and J. A. Umbaugh.

Delegates to congressional convention: Benjamin Bowsher and Wm. Russler; Elias Bowsher and C. A. Russler were appointed a committee to fill vacancies.

It was resolved by this caucus that the delegates to the congressional convention this day selected, be and are hereby instructed to stand by and vote for Allen county's candidate for congressional honors in this district at the next convention so long as said candidate shall be before said convention.

After a few well chosen remarks made by Hon. C. H. Adkins, candidate for congress, who chanced to be present, giving a brief sketch of his position upon the great political questions of the day, it was resolved that the secretary of this caucus forward for publication a copy of the proceedings of said caucus to the Times-Democrat, of Lima, and the Bi-County Review, of Cridersville.

LEAKED OUT

And Friends Are Now Showing Congratulations.

Albert B. Arnold, son of John W. Arnold, and familiarly known among his friends as "Shorty," has perpetrated a surprise in the printing craft and chosen a life partner without their consent. The lady of his choice was Miss Cecil M. Hall, daughter of Mrs. Jacob Rise, of west Kibby street, and the wedding was performed by Rev. Hagerman, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Larimer, on east Second street.

The attempt at secrecy failed, and last night the newly-wedded couple were forced to receive congratulations. Outside of their home town, where they are so well known, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold would attract considerable notice on account of their stature. The groom's height is 4 feet 11 inches and the bride 4 feet 6 inches, and their combined weight is 180 pounds.

They will make their home on east Second street.

DRESS SUITS IN GRAY.

Radical Departure In Evening Wear Promised Next Summer.

The America of the twentieth century has original ideas concerning the future of men's dress for evening wear. The coming summer is to see a striking innovation, according to the New York Times, which may lead to others still more radical. This is nothing more or less than the substitution of dark gray cassimere for the black material of the same texture which has been used exclusively hitherto in the making of men's suits for evening wear.

The leading New York makers of men's clothes have had this matter under consideration for some months, believing that the time was almost ripe and considering that the utility of a suit of some sober, dignified color other than black would appeal to the common sense of summer residents at the fashionable resorts particularly.

In discussing the proposed change a prominent Fifth avenue tailor said recently:

"Of course we do not expect every one will change from black to gray at once. We have had several orders for dinner suits in the new style, but many of our best customers in renewing their Tuxedo garments for the coming season have preferred to stick to the black of seasons past.

"It is probable that the gray suits will first be seen early in the Newport season, and we shall then be in a better position to judge whether the wearing of them is to be regarded as a fad or whether the innovation may be expected to become a permanent change in fashionable evening dress and steadily grow in popularity.

"The lines of the gray Tuxedo will follow those of the black for the present season, which remain unchanged from last year. The silk facings will extend clear to the edges, with a little binding of braid to match. The vest may be of gray, double breasted, or it may be of white, with white or gilt buttons, these being matters in which latitude is allowed for individual tastes, while the approval of fashion and correct style is given to each alike."

Mr. J. W. Patterson, night police at Nashua, Ia., says: "In January I had a very bad cold on my lungs, and used half a dozen different cough medicines and prescriptions from two doctors, but grew worse all the time. I finally bought a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar and after using two-thirds of it, I was entirely cured." Sold by H. F. Vortkamp, N. E. cor. Main and North streets.

Lake Baikal's greatest distinction is its size. It is the largest fresh water lake on the Asiatic or the European continent, being 400 miles long, and from 16 to 65 miles in width.

The Republican organ has not hoisted the name of Dr. Bates as a candidate for member of Board of Education along with the other Republicans nominated on Monday. Can that course be inspired by the fact that one of that paper's attaches was a candidate for the position for which Dr. Bates secured, and was defeated at the polls by the genial doctor?

The Republican organ in this city does not have much to say this morning commendatory of L. H Rogers, the Hall-King candidate for mayor, but it goes into ecstacies over the qualifications possessed by another man—W. L Rogers—for a position like that to which the solicitor's partner was nominated Of course it is all right for the official organ to not want to say kind words about Boss Hall's pet candidate, but to attribute many good qualities to a man not a candidate, thereby implying that in their opinion the Boss's candidate does not possess these qualifications in the degree that he should, is as cold a proposition as one could imagine

Although not the most conspicuous among feats of Boer campaigning in South Africa, the routing of General Methuen's force and his capture by the enemy may be reckoned as perhaps the most sensational Methuen is a born fighter of vast and varied experience, and his earlier victories over Cronje's army during the movement for the relief of Kimberley largely enhanced his reputation as a practical campaigner. But he fared too fast and far, persisted too long in methods of attack no longer available against intrenched troops, and his crushing defeat at Magersfontain brought Lord Roberts to the fore as commander, with results that are now matters of history But Methuen's trooper instinct would not be denied, and on regaining favor at headquarters he speedily became one of the most active military elements in the vast plan for clearing up the disturbed territory. With Methuen a prisoner and wounded, the aristocratic sentiment that underlies the British military fabric will be severely strained and shaken far more than by any reports of sweeping disaster to the rank and file.

Trouble Feared.

Bristol Tenn., March 12—A party of men armed with winchesters left Bristol for the southwest Virginia coal fields, where an outbreak is feared on account of the demands of union labor agitators The prospect for a general strike has been on the increase for 10 days, and the mine operators have been curtailing orders for supplies on account of the situation. Mine officials believe the presence of armed men may prevent an outbreak.

Governor Taft Operated On.

Cincinnati, March 12—William H. Taft, governor of the Philippines, underwent a surgical operation at the Jewish hospital in this city, as he has contemplated ever since his consultation with an expert in New York, immediately after his return. The operation is not regarded as a serious one and it was successfully performed The patient is reported as doing nicely He will be in the hospital perhaps three weeks

Dashed Into a Coal Train.

Alexandria. Va, March 12—The northbound Manassas accommodation train on the Southern railway dashed into a number of coal cars standing on the main track just south of Manassas Junction Webster Atkinson, the fireman, was killed, and Thomas B. Rowan, the engineer, was seriously injured. The train was filled with passengers, but no other persons were injured.

A FRANKENSTEIN.

Common Folk Republicans Begin to See It in Protective Tariff.

At last the Republican common folk are beginning to realize the full form and ferocity of the Frankenstein they created for themselves when they ratified the McKinley-Dingley protective tariff. In the light of pending issues they can see how hard and fast is the grip which they helped the favored manufacturers and trusts to get upon the throat of the nation.

The president and congress are being besieged and bombarded with petitions and protests against the tariff strangulation which this country is applying to our infant ward in chancery, the island of Cuba. Men of that country whose characters are beyond reproach and whose testimony is proof against contradiction have made it plain to our authorities that the right and left hand pillar industries of Cuba—sugar and tobacco—are being destroyed by our customs exactions and that the inevitable result will be the speedy impoverishment, disorganization and despair of the Cuban people

On this subject President Roosevelt said to congress in his message

"I most earnestly ask your attention to the wisdom, indeed to the vital need, of providing for a substantial reduction in the tariff duties on Cuban imports into the United States Cuba has in her constitution affirmed what we desired, that she should stand in international matters in closer and more friendly relations with us than with any other power and we are bound by every consideration of honor and expediency to pass commercial measures in the interest of her material well being"

We do not think there is a Republic an in congress, however hidebound in the cult of Chinese wall protection, who would deny those final averments by the president if Cuba had passed into the power of Great Britain as she has into the power of this country and her appeal were addressed to parliament instead of to the American congress.

But Secretary Root, who is thoroughly informed by personal visitation to the island and by official reports speaks yet more strongly in his report, as follows

"The peace of Cuba is necessary to the peace of the United States the health of Cuba is necessary to the health of the United States the independence of Cuba is necessary to the safety of the United States The same considerations which led to the war with Spain now require that a commercial arrangement be made under which Cuba can live

This country stands today with the power to play the part of executioner or savior to Cuba We can devastate her by commercial reconcentration as effectually as Weyler was doing it by military methods when we broke his fatal grip or we can so adjust our tariff rates to her necessities as to make it possible for her to live by her industries and support the independence we have not only wrought for her, but are even now forcing upon her Shall we insist upon her being free de jure and shackled de facto

Who forbids us to do our plain duty by Cuba in this emergency? It is the solid array of Republican protection dervishes who look with fishy eyes up on the distress of Cuba and tell her to begone from the doors of our plenty with her beggar's face and pleadings The sacred ox must not be disturbed in his plethoric stall To allow Cuba to live off a few wisps of hay from his overabundance would be a dangerous precedent!"

All that is very sickening to American honor and humanity It is a spectacle that is revolting to the consciences of patriots from one end of the Union to the other

The Truth Must Prevail.

There can be no doubt that the people of the United States are tired of the naval controversy The whole thing is so clear to nine-tenths of the adult population that it seems a waste of time to be engaged in continually showing up the absurdity of the Sampsonian myth. It is only too evident that Schley is the victim of a bureaucratic conspiracy. Against him is Secretary Long, a lawyer, Captain Crowninshield, a man who came very near being cashiered for running his ship into a continent, Admiral Sampson, who never was in a naval engagement in his life, Ramsay and Benham, two superannuated officers who never had a fleet command, and the hangers on and underlings who have taken up the view of the naval clique because it is to their interest to do so In short, a very small minority, mostly officials, condemns Schley On the other hand, Dewey, the head of the navy Miles the head of the army; five retired rear admirals who have spoken, and at least 90 per cent of the American people sustain Schley—Memphis Commercial Appeal

High Priced Prosperity.

No householder needed to be told that the rise in the cost of living has of late been sharp and serious, but the careful expert statement in Dun's review that the cost of living has increased 40 per cent since 1897 suggests misgivings about the extent, or at least the equal distribution, of the prosperity with which the country is apparently blessed. Under present conditions prosperity does not seem to be equally distributed, and it is not remarkable that a large part of the population does not readily perceive the beauties of a system which has some considerable influence in raising the cost of living, but does not raise their incomes to meet the rise in cost and pours millions into the pockets of industries which are abundantly able to dispense with charity.—Philadelphia Ledger (Rep.).

GONE

But Not to Be Forgotten

Are the Boys

Whom Lima Had Honor of Entertaining.

Did the Right Thing Too, by Electing a Local Member to the Presidency.

Nelson Shook Holds the Chief Office in the Ohio Laundrymen's Association, the Choice Being Unanimous.

Yesterday wound up the annual convention of the Ohio Laundrymen's association and the delegates and visitors have returned home loudly praising the hospitality of Lima and the successful manner in which the local laundrymen carried out the plans for their entertainment. During the two days the "jolly fellows" as they were termed everywhere, had full swing and the city was their's for the time being.

The closing hours of the session were devoted to a business session of interest solely to the members of the association and before adjournment Lima was honored with the state presidency Nelson Shook, proprietor of the New Method Laundry, was nominated for the highest office and had no opposition, being chosen amid sincere demonstrations of approval on every hand

Mr. Shook proved himself to be equal to the occasion presented by the selection of Lima as the meeting place this year and, supported by the other proprietors of local laundries every arrangement was carried out with such a close attention to detail that the visitors declared the convention to have equaled, in pleasure at least the national association's gathering In return, he was chosen president and will fill the office with credit to the association and himself. His name was presented by J. R. Hill, of East Liverpool and having received honor with unanimous consent Mr Shook responded with a few well timed words of acceptance The other officers elected were J. R Hill first vice president, A. N Fries, of Cincinnati, second vice president F W. Stevenson, of Cincinnati, secretary, Carroll Thornton, of Youngstown, treasurer, E B Kelly, of Dayton, G. E Ryan, of Toledo, and S. B. Waters, of Cincinnati, executive committee

No time or place was chosen for the next convention, the matter being left in the hands of the newly-elected executive committee.

Lima Tent Receives the New Members and Entertains Visiting Sir Knights in Pleasing Manner.

The lodge room of Lima tent No. 142 Knights of the Maccabees was crowded last night with Sir Knights, who had gathered to witness the degree work by the Spencerville tent team and incidentally to enjoy the hospitality of the local tent.

P. W. Shane, Anthony Lyons, C. C. Prosser, J. V. Holmes C. F. Protsman, J. C. Lusk and O. F. Ellis were taken through the enemy's country to the Maccabee camp where they arrived in a somewhat exhausted condition but perfectly satisfied with the trip.

The work and appearance of the team was fine in every respect and at the close of each scene the applause was unstinted from the onlookers. It is understood that this team is out after the district banner, now held by the Wapakoneta Sir Knights They certainly will hustle any team in the district. The roster of the team is as follows.

Geo. L. Fisher, captain, A N Spees, Antiochus, A. T. Anderson, past commander. Enos Strohl, Mattathias Wm. Pickering, Judas Maccabeus; Chas. Lackey, Aaron Bice, Wm. Taylor, Isaac Briggs, soldiers, Fred Lackey and M. Simons, sons, Thos. Bowers, sentinel, Elsworth Fles, peasant

WALTER REDMAN PROMOTED.

Walter J Redman has been appointed lieutenant of police of this division of the Pennsylvania, succeeding Lieutenant H. S. Harrod, who left last night for Buffalo to assume the captaincy of that branch of the police system. Captain Stoll notified Mr. Redman of the appointment yesterday morning and immediately installed him in office. In reference to the term of service of Walter Redman, the Fort Wayne Sentinel says he is the oldest patrolman on the force. He was appointed to that position five years ago, when the present excellent police system was established, and he has served constantly and well ever since In addition to an unlimited amount of physical courage, Walter possesses rare good sense and an even temper which enables him to remain cool and collected in the most trying situations, attributes which are very essential to a good officer He is a clever fellow socially, also, and his appointment will be pleasing to all his acquaintances.

GENERAL NOTES.

Mike Deneen, a well-known former L. E. & W. conductor, is in the city renewing old acquaintances.

Lonely Homes

A home is never complete without children. Yet many homes are childless. Many wives are desolate for the lack of a child to love. Their lives are aimless—void of the high motives of motherhood. While barrenness is causing incalculable sadness and sorrow, it exists in most cases on account of some little female trouble, which Wine of Cardui would speedily set right. This pure Wine regulates the disordered female organs by building up the worn out nerves and regulating the menstrual flow. It restores the fallen womb to its proper place. By strengthening the generative organs, it makes pregnancy possible where barrenness exists. You can depend on

WINE OF CARDUI

Suffering women all over the land have been depending on it for seventy-five years. No more convincing proof can be given than the testimony of Mrs. Benson, who is only one of thousands of women to whom Wine of Cardui has brought a permanent cure. Many cases of miscarriage—that trouble which robs mothers of their hopes—have been avoided by timely use of the Wine. You are asked to try Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught, its companion medicine. Nine out of ten cases of female trouble, barrenness included, yield to them. All druggists sell $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

Vandervoort, Ark., April 2, 1900.

Last May I had a miscarriage, which was followed by flooding. I read your Almanac and my husband got me a bottle of Wine of Cardui and it stopped my flooding and restored my fallen womb to its place. Now I am cured after taking three bottles and have another to take which I got this morning. I am expecting to become a mother and Wine of Cardui will be my doctor. Mrs. MARY L. BENSON.

Danger of Colds and La Grippe.

The greatest danger from colds and la grippe is their resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for these diseases, we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia, which shows conclusively that it is a certain preventive of that dangerous malady. It will cure a cold or an attack of la grippe in less time than any other treatment. It is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by Wm. M. Melville, old post office corner.

PREHISTORIC TOMBS.

FANTASTIC ROCK PAINTINGS DISCOVERED IN CENTRAL AMERICA.

How a Harvard Professor Found and Deciphered the Crude Epitaphs of an Unknown Ancient Race—Investigations Covered Two Years.

[Special Correspondence.]

BOSTON, March 10.—Perhaps the strangest tombstone in the world is one discovered by Teobert Maler during his explorations in the Usumatsintla valley, in Central America, where he was engaged in conducting researches for the Peabody Museum of Archæology and Ethnology at Harvard.

The ordinary traveler would probably have had some difficulty in making up his mind that it was a tombstone or, in fact, in determining just what it was intended to be at all, but Mr. Maler, applying the methods of the trained archæologist, seems to have deciphered it with ease.

In the report of his two years of investigation, just made public in Cambridge, Maler tells of his rediscovery of the lake of Petha and of its exploration. Going from one basin of the lake to the other, the party's boat pushed its way between great cliffs that rose perpendicularly from the water, which was then at its highest after the rainy season. On the smooth face of one of these walls were three large rock paintings, fine examples of the curious primitive art of some of the aboriginal Americans. It was one of these which Mr. Maler identified as marking a grave—that of a woman of this long forgotten prehistoric race.

Well up from the surface of the water were daubed in red large hands. Near them the picture of a foot—the sole, with the toes pointing upward—was traced in yellowish color on a ground of red, and above this in red, outlined on a yellowish background, was what appeared to be an overturned vessel of some sort, which was covered with red dots and from the lower edge of which projected combike streaks or droppings. This latter picture most resembled, Maler says, certain perforated vessels in which the native women of the country wash their maize after it has been soaked in limewater. Above the perforated pot were several more red hands

"This simple symbolic picture," says Mr. Maler, "may be interpreted thus. The footprint may indicate that the beloved woman has gone 'upward' The overturned washing pot probably shows that she never again will go to the river to wash out her nixtamal (softened maize) to make 'tortillas' for her husband and children. The red hands raised toward the sky may indicate the last greetings of those she left mourning on earth when she ascended to celestial regions."

The other pictures on the same cliff with this strange epitaph, if it may be so called, were equally interesting in their way, but Maler offers no explanation of their meaning. The central design was the best preserved and the most elaborate. It was traced in simple black lines, boldly executed, and the archæologist conceived it to be the representation of the jaws of some monster which seems in a general way to resemble the dragon of mythology in the act of swallowing a man headforemost. The monster's head terminated at the back in a lot of plumage, and a grotesque face was developed in the scrollwork above it. A few feet higher on the cliff was a very crude drawing of a diminutive man.

The same curious footprints and hands already described were at one side of this decorative bit, and at the other were large, broad red stripes running high up on the rocks, mostly in vertical lines, with here and there large scrolls. Two hands painted in white or light yellow on a red ground and a series of black lines worn to indistinctness by time and weather completed the series of pictures.

Maler says that the water in the lake where he found these interesting examples of rock paintings is of such great depth that steamships could easily sail on it, even, he thinks, in the dry season, when it is doubtless twelve or fifteen feet lower than it was at the time of his visit. AN INDIA SEAT.

Convenient For an Odd Corner and Easy to Make.

An India seat is convenient for an odd corner and not difficult to manufacture. One should select hard, fine, close grained wood, hard maple being very satisfactory for this purpose. The four corner posts are turned from three inch stuff averaging two inches when done, and they should be sixteen and a half inches high. Seven inches from the top, where the leg is largest, insert smooth, round pieces of wood twenty-one inches long and glue them firmly in place. Next, unite the four legs by rounds fourteen inches long fastened firmly in place. Into these rounds, at the ends, insert three short rounds, each seven inches long Place one in the center and the others at a distance of two inches on either side. Glue the tops into a similar round of wood. Examine a chair where the rounds are set in, and you will understand how this framework is put together. By studying the illustration you will notice that the top rail for the front and back is hollowed so that the middle is two inches lower than the ends The three other short rails are fastened in place exactly like that just described. Headless nails, or brads, as they are sometimes called, should be used, as well as the glue, to hold the parts together. Stain the framework and varnish it, or varnish it without staining if you prefer.

For the seat tack on a piece of strong carpeting or stout cloth, using upholsterer's tacks which should be put well underneath, that they may not catch the clothes.

AN INDIA SEAT.

A satisfactory lacquer or varnish may be made by stirring a teaspoonful of the prepared powder that comes for dyeing purposes into a tablespoonful of white shellac. When well mixed, add one fourth pint of the varnish, stir well and allow it to stand a little while before using, that the color may be clear and even. Bismarck and violet produce a beautiful brown, green and bismarck a nice olive. Use magenta and orange for scarlet. For darker stains the orange or dark shellac should be used. Varnishes thus prepared are transparent, showing the grain of the wood, which adds greatly to the general effect.

POSITIVE PROOF.

Should Convince the Greatest Skeptic in Lima.

Because it's evidence in Lima.

It's from a citizen perhaps a neighbor

Investigation will confirm it.

Mr J. S Milligan, of 124 Harrison avenue, says: "Early in the summer in 1896 I told a representative who called upon me making inquiries about Doan's Kidney Pills, that I had procured a box at W. M. Melville's drug store, that I took a large dose on going to bed than that prescribed, that I never opened my eyes until bright day light; that it was my first night's sleep in three months and that a continuation of the treatment cured my backache. It is now over two years since I stopped the use of Doan's Kidney Pills and I emphatically declare that during the whole of that time I have had no occasion to use either them or any other medicine for kidney trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N Y. sole agents for the United States.

GABARDINE OF WOE.

New Materials Which May Be Used For Mourning Gowns.

[Special Correspondence.]

NEW YORK, March 10.—How women would express their sense of loss by the death of some loved one if it were not for the crape and black goods to make up into somber garments it is difficult to say. It seems that nothing short of being swathed from head to foot in such garments could alleviate the grief.

But since we must wear or see others wear mourning habiliments let us at least try to relieve the sad somberness of some of its effect by having the garments made as prettily as possible. They really do these things better in England than they do here. In England there is a set rule almost as rigid as the laws of the Medes and Persians that we read about—such a depth of crape for such a loss and length of time after the funeral. The styles are graded, and the widow always has the lion's share of crape. I have often wondered if that was not arranged on purpose so that her loss should seem so direful that sympathetic men would make more haste to console her.

Now when a woman loses son, father, brother or daughters she has certainly lost much, but it is to be supposed that she has not suffered as deep sorrow, though perhaps a more lasting one, as the widow. So she does not need to flaunt her profound trouble before the world. With a widow it is different. I will not argue the question any longer, but will tell what the widow and the rest have in these days to mark their grief.

For many years nothing but rough finished surface goods were thought suitable, such as bombazine and nun's serge and some of the cashmere twills If a silk was to be made for a home gown, it was of the heavy, lusterless kind. No cloth was thought suitable.

But, as the French say, we have changed all that, and now some of the richest of the mourning dresses and, in fact, all full suits are made of fine and glossy surfaced cloth, but the really best material for first and deepest mourning is the silk warp eudora cloth. This has a fine twill and hangs in an especially rich manner and is just of the right depth of color. The silk in the weave in some way adds to its beauty to such an extent that there is nothing so beautiful, not even the finest broadcloth, and it takes the crape trimming better than anything yet found.

A mourning gown can now be made after almost any model, with the crape trimming added If a blouse waist seems more desirable than a plain waist, it is quite right to have one. If a bolero is preferred, a bolero can be made. A good model to show what can be done in this way is pictured in the illustration. The dress is of fine silk warp eudora, and the skirt is laid in deep box folds. Each fold is faced on the upper side with heavy courtauld crape. This is the crape that from time unknown has been the standard of the English goods. None other is suitable for added bands or trimming. The inner folds of the flounce are left plain. At the top of the flounce there is a stitched band of the eudora, and the seams to the folds are carried to the waist very cleverly.

The waist is snug and made of the skirt material and buttoned to the left side over a plaited crape vest. There is a short bolero with a wide crape collar and two wide crape bands down the front. Another crosses the back at the bottom, starting from the side seams.

The sleeves are bishop over the eudora, the crape in this instance being the French quality, which is much more transparent. The sleeves to the bolero are short, reaching but to the elbows. This dress is very handsome and is adapted to a variety of uses in mourning. With a widow's cap and veil it would do for a widow, and, with a wrap of the prevailing styles, it could be worn in the streets with propriety.

When the home dressmaker tries her prentice hand on crape bands, she should remember to cut the crape on the straight right across the piece. This brings the grain bias. If she makes the mistake of cutting on the bias, her crape will look as if it had been cut on the straight, and that is almost a crime. A piece of black crinoline is to be cut to fit the place where it is desired to have the crape band, and over this the crape is basted so that it leaves both edges turned in properly. Then the whole is catstitched down to the garment.

LEGAL NOTICE.

Josephine Richter and Bernard D. Richter, each residing in the city of Fort Wayne, county of Allen, and state of Indiana, will take notice that on the 4th day of March, A. D. 1902, Veronica Hotz, filed her petition in the Common Pleas Court in and for Allen county, Ohio, in case No 10984 in said court against the above named parties and others, praying for the partition of the following described real estate, situate in the township of Marion, county of Allen, and state of Ohio to-wit:

Being the east on -half (½) of the southwest quarter (¼) of section number thirty (30), township number two (2) south, range number five (5) east, containing ninety-two (92) acres of land more or less.

Also eight (8) acres of land, more or less, situated in the north half (½) of the southwest quarter (¼) of section number thirty (30), township number two (2) south, range number five (5) east, in the said township of Marion, county of Allen, and state of Ohio, being known for taxation as lot number fifty-one (51) of Delphos corporation lands, containing fourteen and 63-100 (14 63-100) acres of land, of which six and one-half (6½) acres were heretofore deeded to the village of Delphos, Ohio This description intending to include all that part of the said lot number fifty-one (51) of Delphos corporation lands not conveyed by the deed of Joseph and Mary Suthoff to the village of Delphos Ohio, dated August 19, 1890, and recorded in volume 77 at page 396 of the Allen county, Ohio, Record of Deeds, and being and intending to include all that part of the northwest quarter (¼) of the southwest quarter (¼) of section number thirty (30) township number two (2) south, range number five (5) east, in said township of Marion, county of Allen, and state of Ohio, which lies south of the Suthoff addition to the village of Delphos, Ohio, excepting therefrom six and one-half (6½) acres heretofore conveyed by Joseph and Mary Suthoff, his wife, to the village of Delphos, Ohio, by the deed hereinabove described.

The object and prayer of the said petition is that the said Veronica Hotz and each and all of the defendants in the said case have set off to them in severalty their interests in the said real estate, if the same can be done without manifest injury; if not, then that the said real estate be sold according to law, and that partition of the proceeds be made and for such other proceedings in the premises as are authorized by law.

The said parties are required to answer on or before the 28th day of April, A. D. 1902, or judgment may be taken against them.

SPANISH WAR INCIDENT

Depew Tells How Powers Plotted to Stop Dewey.

BRITISH "NO" FRUSTRATED IT

Senator Furnishes Details of a Scheme to Keep Our Flag Off Philippine Soil Which Was Checked by England's Refusal to Act With the Powers.

The details of the conspiracy on the part of certain powers to prevent the landing of American forces in the Philippines during the war with Spain have just been furnished by Senator Depew, who confirms the information which was recently announced in the New York Press by its Washington correspondent—namely, that the unfriendly attitude of Germany to the United States when the war with Spain actually began was brought out in a statement made by Admiral Dewey to several senators of how the German admiral showed hostility at the battle of Manila The statement was brought out on account of the German British controversy over neutrality of the powers before the war

The German ships followed the American vessels about until warned by Dewey not to get in line of his fire The British commander drew his ships on the other side of the American vessels in a line from the German ships, so that if Admiral von Dietrichs did fire on Dewey he would have to fire on the British flag at the same time But in addition to this stirring incident it is related that certain of the powers again, at the alleged instigation of Austria, tried to make up a combination to prevent the landing of the American forces in Manila

When the proposition to keep the Americans from raising the American flag over the Philippines was made known in London the British foreign office promptly rejected the suggestion, and the plot immediately fell through. The rejection of the proposal said to have come through Austrian channels resulted in the ordering of Admiral von Dietrichs by his government away from the Philippines leaving the United States forces to complete their plans of occupation without any further attempts at foreign hindrance.

"I was abroad at the time of Dewey's victory at Manila" says Mr Depew "I remember that in France the feeling of hostility to Americans was pronounced it being unpleasant, for instance for American women to go shopping in Paris The same anti-American sentiment was prevalent in Berlin and Vienna

"While I was in London in the latter part of May or the first week or two of June I was approached semiofficially with a proposition which involved a concert of the continental powers against the United States, the object being to prevent this country from permanently retaining the Philippines. The powers realized that the United States suddenly had become a factor in the eastern situation and must be consulted in any steps which might be taken concerning the Polandizing of China We were, so to speak, a new division in the equation, with the probability—which later proved to be a reality—that we would check the land grabbing ambition of certain powers

"Under these circumstances I was asked if the United States would agree, provided freedom was granted to Cuba, Porto Rico ceded to the United States and a coaling station was granted in the Philippines, that Dewey should withdraw from the Philippines and all claim to the archipelago be surrendered I was told that if this programme was not accepted by the United States the continental powers would provide assistance to Spain so that the war would be prolonged at least two years, thus involving the United States in an expense of several hundred million dollars, even though the outcome of the war necessarily would be a complete American victory

"At that time Cervera's fleet was still upon the seas and the American army in Cuba was not in the most satisfactory situation The proposition was made to me by an agent of the Spanish government who represented that he acted after consultation with the representatives of other powers, because I was well known in London and, in fact, was accredited with having closer relations to the American administration and with congress than I actually enjoyed.

"I know for a fact that the proposition in all its entirety was laid before Lord Salisbury, and he was asked to give his assent to it He replied that he would not indorse it in any particular, although willing to lay it before our government simply as a medium of transmittal. His declination to agree to the scheme and the perfunctory attitude which he assumed in regard to it had a fatal effect The subject, I believe, was communicated informally to Embassador Choate who replied that the war had progressed too far and was too certain of an immediate and successful end to permit the United States to entertain any proposition which involved future action regarding the Philippines

"The publication of the other day has recalled vividly the details which I have now related for the first time and which even now I would not make public were it not for the fact that a general outline of the story has found its way into print"

Forewarned, Forearmed

The liability to disease is greatly lessened when the blood is in good condition, and the circulation healthy and vigorous For then all refuse matter is promptly carried out of the system; otherwise it would rapidly accumulate—fermentation would take place, the blood become polluted and the constitution so weakened that a simple malady might result seriously.

A healthy, active circulation means good digestion and strong, healthy nerves.

As a blood purifier and tonic S. S. S. has no equal. It is the safest and best remedy for old people and children because it contains no minerals, but is made exclusively of roots and herbs.

No other remedy so thoroughly and effectually cleanses the blood of impurities. At same time it builds up the weak and debilitated, and rejuvenates the entire system. It cures permanently all manner of blood and skin troubles.

Mr. E E Kelly, of Urbana, O., writes: "I had Eczema on my hands and face five years. It would break out in white pustules, crusts would form, drop off, leaving the skin red and inflamed. The doctors did me no good. I tried all the medicated soaps and salves without benefit. S S S. cured me, and my skin is as clear and smooth as any one's."

Mrs. Henry S ... of Cape May, N. J., says that twenty-one bottles of S. S. S. cured her of Cancer of the breast. Doctors and friends thought her case hopeless.

Richard T. Gardner, Florence, S. C., suffered for years with Boils. Two bottles of S S S put his blood in good condition and the Boils disappeared.

Household "Drudgery."

Much of what we call pleasure is really very hard physical labor, for instance golf—and much that was drudgery may be made as interesting as play if we but educate and train the minds, as Ruskin would have us, to find beauty and joy in the duties nearest and to inspire the brain with admiration for the best possible work the hand can find to do I can see the coming ripple of disapproval at this doctrine from the old housekeeper who read this story which is written by the grunts of disgust I have heard often We will hope they may stumble upon it for while I am a housekeeper I am not a disgruntled one, however and I do see and believe that the natural and normal and happy condition for women is the life of housewifery—that is if she accepts and wields her scepter gracefully and intelligently—Linda Hull Larned in Woman's Home Companion.

Robert R Watts of Salem writes — I have been troubled with kidney disease for the last five years and have doctored with all the leading physicians and have tried all remedies suggested without any relief. Finally I tried Foley's Kidney Cure and less than two bottles completely cured me and I am sound and well. Sold by H F Vortkamp N E cor Main and North streets

TIME

Of Both Houses Occupied by the Subsidy Bill.

A Lively Clash Between Two Members

On the Subject of the Pacific Cable—This is the Second Squabble.

Chauncy Depew, Who is One of the Champions of Senator Hanna's Measure, Makes a Long Speech.

Washington March 13—General debate on the postoffice appropriation bill continued in the house a number of topics being discussed. The proceedings were enlivened by a clash between Mr Corliss of Michigan and Mr Richardson of Alabama on the subject of the Pacific cable This is the second time these two members have locked horns on the cable question Mr Sims of Tennessee devoted some time to showing how the house had been "buncoed," he said in connection with the permanent census bill Mr Dougherty of Missouri discussed rural free delivery Mr Jackson of Kansas the government ownership of telegraphs, and Mr. Greene of Pennsylvania the Philippines situation The latter argued that if we would proclaim our purpose to grant independence to the Filipinos the insurrection would cease instantly The house adjourned at 4 30 p m

Senate Doings.

Washington March 13—Again the ship subsidy bill occupied practically the entire time of the senate Mr McCumber (N D) presented a carefully prepared argument in which as a representative of an agricultural state he favored the bill on the ground of its protective features Mr Depew (N Y) one of the members of the committee on commerce delivered an elaborate speech in which he analyzed the arguments both for and against the proposition to pay subsidies to the shipping industry Both as an argument and as an oratorical effort the speech was brilliant, and was listened to attentively by senators and by throngs in the galleries His peroration, in which he pictured in glowing language the results of the operation of the bill elicited hearty applause from the galleries A few bills were passed, including one providing for the redemption of Hawaiian silver coins and the substitution therefor of American silver coins

VAN ZANT

DISMISSED

The Charges Made Against the U. S. Marshal.

Washington, March 13—The civil service commission has dismissed the charges recently made by Horace A Mann against United States Marshal W D Wright of the eastern district of Tennessee, and Postmaster J C Teller of French, Tenn this decision being based on the lack of apparent facts to sustain the allegations of civil service law violations The charges alleged interference in a Republican factional contest The charges against John J Graham, inspector of rural free delivery routes, and a number of postmasters in that portion of Tennessee, are reserved for future action.

TREATIES

Are Being Discussed by the Members of the Senate.

Washington March 13—The senate committee on foreign relations adopted the report prepared by its subcommittee on the legal aspect of reciprocity treaties and authorized the presentation of the report to the senate The investigation was undertaken because of the contention that the house of representatives should be consulted in negotiating commercial agreements, since they affect the tariff, but the report agreed upon holds that the entire authority to enter into such agreements is vested in the president and the senate as the treaty-making power of the country

From a Member of the Chicago Drainage Commission. A Measure Introduced Affecting Goods Sold on the Installment Plan.

Columbus O 13—There was more routine business transacted by the general assembly than on any other day during the session up to this time The wheels of legislation were kept going all day and in the evening the members listened attentively to Professor Lyman E Cooley of the Chicago drainage commission on the subject of Ohio canals After that the members went into caucus for more redistricting discussion, and between times there were several committee meetings The day was crowded with business

Among the important bills passed during the day are the following S B, to establish laws in Ohio uniform with the laws of other states on negotiable instruments (the subjects including bills of lading, corporations partnerships, checks, marriage and divorce and some others) affecting the conditional sales law so that the seller can demand back and need not tender all or part of the purchase price in recovering goods back sold on the installment plan unless one fourth of the price has already been paid providing fine of from $10 to $100 or six months' imprisonment for neglecting or refusing to furnish necessary and proper sustenance for children under 16 years of age, to appropriate $1 200 for Thomas J. Hamilton of Company E Eighth Ohio, injured at the funeral of the late President McKinley

In the Senate.

Following bills were passed in the senate Dedicating Laramie Mercer, Licking and Lewiston reservoirs as public pleasure resorts, to permit insurance companies to loan money to the extent of 50 per cent of the improved value of real estate, to amend the law so that county treasurers may employ attorneys to collect taxes

Bills introduced Providing for 16 depositories for state funds no two depositories to be located in more than one town, limiting liability in corporation to 18 months after holder shall have disposed of same to exempt stock of Ohio citizens in foreign corporations from taxation where one half of property is located in this state, and where corporation is taxed under Willis bill allowing corporations to own stock in other like corporations but providing against restriction of trade through combines or trusts

Senator Archer introduced a bill to fix the rate at 5 cents per 1 000 gallons to be charged by the board of public works and the canal commission for supplying water for hydraulic purposes

Lonely Homes

A home is never complete without children. Yet many homes are childless. Many wives are desolate for the lack of a child to love. Their lives are aimless—void of the high motives of motherhood. While barrenness is causing incalculable sadness and sorrow, it exists in most cases on account of some little female trouble, which Wine of Cardui would speedily set right. This pure Wine regulates the disordered female organs by building up the worn out nerves and regulating the menstrual flow. It restores the fallen womb to its proper place. By strengthening the generative organs, it makes pregnancy possible where barrenness exists. You can depend on

WINE OF CARDUI

Suffering women all over the land have been depending on it for seventy-five years. No more convincing proof can be given than the testimony of Mrs. Benson, who is only one of thousands of women to whom Wine of Cardui has brought a permanent cure. Many cases of miscarriage—that trouble which robs mothers of their hopes—have been avoided by timely use of the Wine. You are asked to try Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught, its companion medicine. Nine out of ten cases of female trouble, barrenness included, yield to them. All druggists sell $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

Vandervoort, Ark., April 2, 1900.

Last May I had a miscarriage, which was followed by flooding. I read your Almanac and my husband got me a bottle of Wine of Cardui and it stopped my flooding and restored my fallen womb to its place. Now I am cured after taking three bottles and have another to take which I got this morning. I am expecting to become a mother and Wine of Cardui will be my doctor.

Danger of Colds and La Grippe.

The greatest danger from colds and la grippe is their resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for these diseases, we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia, which shows conclusively that it is a certain preventive of that dangerous malady. It will cure a cold or an attack of la grippe in less time than any other treatment. It is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by Wm. M. Melville, old post office corner.

PREHISTORIC TOMBS.

FANTASTIC ROCK PAINTINGS DISCOVERED IN CENTRAL AMERICA.

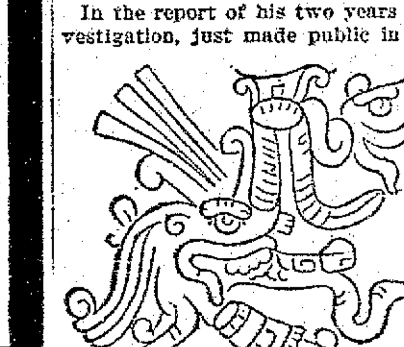

How a Harvard Professor Found and Deciphered the Crude Epitaphs of an Unknown Ancient Race—Investigations Covered Two Years.

[Special Correspondence.]

BOSTON, March 10.—Perhaps the strangest tombstone in the world is one discovered by Teobert Maler during his explorations in the Usumatsintla valley, in Central America, where he was engaged in conducting researches for the Peabody Museum of Archæology and Ethnology at Harvard.

The ordinary traveler would probably have had some difficulty in making up his mind that it was a tombstone or, in fact, in determining just what it was intended to be at all, but Mr. Maler, applying the methods of the trained archæologist, seems to have deciphered it with ease.

In the report of his two years of investigation, just made public in Cambridge, Maler tells of his rediscovery of the lake of Petha and of its exploration. Going from one basin of the lake to the other, the party's boat pushed its way between great cliffs that rose perpendicularly from the water, which was then at its highest after the rainy season. On the smooth face of one of these walls were three large rock paintings, fine examples of the curious primitive art of some of the aboriginal Americans. It was one of these which Mr. Maler identified as marking a grave—that of a woman of this long forgotten prehistoric race.

Well up from the surface of the water were daubed in red large hands. Near them the picture of a foot—the sole, with the toes pointing upward—was traced in yellowish color on a ground of red, and above this in red, outlined on a yellowish background, was what appeared to be an overturned vessel of some sort, which was covered with red dots and from the lower edge of which projected comblike streaks or droppings. This latter picture most resembled, Maler says, certain perforated vessels in which the native women of the country wash their maize after it has been soaked in limewater. Above the perforated pot were several more red hands.

"This simple symbolic picture," says Mr. Maler, "may be interpreted thus: The footprint may indicate that the beloved woman has gone 'upward.' The overturned washing pot probably shows that she never again will go to the river to wash out her nixtamal (softened maize) to make 'tortillas' for her husband and children. The red hands raised toward the sky may indicate the last greetings of those she left mourning on earth when she ascended to celestial regions."

The other pictures on the same cliff with this strange epitaph, if it may be so called, were equally interesting in their way, but Maler offers no explanation of their meaning. The central design was the best preserved and the most elaborate. It was traced in simple black lines, boldly executed, and the archæologist conceived it to be the representation of the jaws of some monster which seems in a general way to resemble the dragon of mythology in the act of swallowing a man headforemost. The monster's head terminated at the back in a lot of plumage, and a grotesque face was developed in the scrollwork above it. A few feet higher on the cliff was a very crude drawing of a diminutive man.

The same curious footprints and hands already described were at one side of this decorative bit, and at the other were large, broad red stripes running high up on the rocks, mostly in vertical lines, with here and there large scrolls. Two hands painted in white or light yellow on a red ground and a series of black lines worn to indistinctness by time and weather completed the series of pictures.

Maler says that the water in the lake where he found these interesting examples of rock paintings is of such great depth that steamships could easily sail on it, even, he thinks, in the day season, when it is doubtless twelve or fifteen feet lower than it was at the time of his visit. AN INDIA SEAT.

Convenient For an Odd Corner and Easy to Make.

An India seat is convenient for an odd corner and not difficult to manufacture. One should select hard, fine, close grained wood, hard maple being very satisfactory for this purpose. The four corner posts are turned from three inch stuff averaging two inches when done, and they should be sixteen and a half inches high. Seven inches from the top, where the leg is largest, insert smooth, round pieces of wood twenty-one inches long and glue them firmly in place. Next, unite the four legs by rounds fourteen inches long fastened firmly in place. Into these rounds, at the ends, insert three short rounds, each seven inches long. Place one in the center and the others at a distance of two inches on either side. Glue the tops into a similar round of wood. Examine a chair where the rounds are set in, and you will understand how this framework is put together. By studying the illustration you will notice that the top rail for the front and back is hollowed so that the middle is two inches lower than the ends. The three other short rails are fastened in place exactly like that just described. Headless nails, or brads, as they are sometimes called, should be used, as well as the glue, to hold the parts together. Stain the framework and varnish it, or varnish it without staining if you prefer.

For the seat tack on a piece of strong carpeting or stout cloth, using uphol-sterer's tacks, which should be put well underneath, that they may not catch the clothes.

A satisfactory lacquer or varnish may be made by stirring a teaspoonful of the prepared powder that comes for dyeing purposes into a tablespoonful of white shellac. When well mixed, add one-fourth pint of the varnish, stir well and allow it to stand a little while before using, that the color may be clear and even. Bismarck and violet produce a beautiful brown, green and bismarck a nice olive. Use magenta and orange for scarlet. For darker stains the orange or dark shellac should be used. Varnishes thus prepared are transparent, showing the grain of the wood, which adds greatly to the general effect.

POSITIVE PROOF.

Should Convince the Greatest Skeptic in Lima.

Because it's evidence in Lima.

It's from a citizen, perhaps a neighbor.

Investigation will confirm it.

Mr. J. S. Miligan, of 124 Harrison avenue, says: "Early in the summer in 1896 I told a representative who called upon me making inquiries about Doan's Kidney Pills, that I had procured a box at W. M. Melville's drug store, that I took a large dose on going to bed than that perscribed, that I never opened my eyes until bright day light; that it was my first night's sleep in three months and that a continuation of the treatment cured my backache. It is now over two years since I stopped the use of Doan's Kidney Pills and I emphatically declare that during the whole of that time I have had no occasion to use either them or any other medicine for kidney trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—DOAN'S—and take no substitute.

There are in the leper home in Louisiana thirty-six inmates-nineteen males and seventeen females. Five sisters of charity nurse these unfortunates. The leper colony is a state institution.

"I had a running sore on my leg for seven years," writes Mrs. Jas. Forest, of Chippewa Falls, Wis., "and spent hundreds of dollars in trying to get it healed. Two boxes of Banner Salve entirely cured it." No other salve so healing. Sold by H. F. Vortkamp, N. E. cor. Main and North streets.
